Commentary

During the month the NAV rose 14.6% compared to the index which rose 9.9%.

April was obviously an extraordinary month for UK equities, as locally evidenced by the fact that 9 of the 22 holdings in the Trust rose by more than 20%, led by a 58% gain for Lloyds Bank, Burberry's 44%, the Lloyds' prefs 38% and Fidessa up 35%. We needed all these because the heart of the portfolio, the consumer branded goods companies, performed poorly, with Cadbury actually down. We are as certain as it is possible to be that one day investors will value the reliability and, crucially, the pricing power of Cadbury, Diageo and Unilever more highly than they do today - so are content to watch these shares underperform a cyclical rally. The 23% gain in April by Dr Pepper, on better than expected results and its throwing off prodigious quantities of cash, illustrate that US investors at least, have not lost sight of the value of such franchises.

Lloyds shared in a general rally by the banks. The only news we are aware of being the welcome "xds" of the two preference shares in the Trust. The income from these instruments is important for your Company and the determination of the Lloyds board to pay them suggests its confidence that the institution will not only survive but eventually prosper. Yielding 14% net, these prefs must still be tempting for income-hungry investors who are confident that Lloyds is past the worst.

Fidessa's gains derive from its confident IMS and the surprise award of a contract from the LSE (another of our holdings to go up more than 30% in April). The award underlines both the superiority of Fidessa's technology, but also the important network of banks and counterparties now committed to its systems. The shares have now more than doubled in 2009 - encouraging for other, related, holdings in the portfolio. We still expect a wonderful period for investing in technology, Internet and some Media companies over the next few years.

Biography

Nick Train began his career as an Investment Manager at GT Management in 1981, having graduated from Queen's College, Oxford with a second class honours in Modern History (1977-1980). He left GT in June 1998, after 17 years, on its acquisition by INVESCO. At his resignation he was a Director of GT Management (London), Investment Director of GT Unit Managers and Chief Investment Officer for Pan-Europe. He joined M&G in September 1998, as a Director of M&G Investment Management. In June 1999 he was appointed as Head of Global Equities at M&G. He left M&G in April 2000 to co-found Lindsell Train Limited. He is investment adviser to the Worshipful Company of Saddlers.

Investment Manager Profile

Investment management services are provided by Lindsell Train Limited (Lindsell Train). Lindsell Train was formed in December 2000. However the principals, Michael Lindsell and Nick Train had worked together at GT Management from 1992 through to GT's takeover by INVESCO in 1998. Both Michael Lindsell and Nick Train went on to fulfil senior roles at INVESCO and M&G PLC respectively, where they continued to develop an in depth knowledge of investment processes and the world's stock markets. Their shared investment philosophy is to invest in durable businesses that are significantly under priced or less durable businesses that are valued by the market at a significant discount to their net balance sheet financial assets. This is achieved by choosing a concentrated portfolio of a small number of stocks with the intention of holding them for the medium to long term. Lindsell Train currently manages around £481m as at 31 December 2008. Lindsell Train is authorised and regulated by the Financial Services Authority.

Investment Policy

The Company has a concentrated portfolio of 25-30 stocks with a low turnover, and aims to have an above-market dividend yield. The Investment Manager uses a bottom-up stock picking approach and looks to invest in a universe of excellent UK listed businesses that appear mostly undervalued. The Company's policy is to invest no more than 15% of its gross assets in other listed investment companies (including listed investment trusts).

Discount Control Mechanism

The Directors have adopted an active discount management policy to establish and support an improved rating in the Company's shares through the use of share buybacks, with a view to limiting the discount to NAV per share at which the shares trade to no more than 5%. Up to 10% of the shares bought back may be held in treasury for reissue at later dates at no more than the discount at which they were purchased.

Important Information

Finsbury Growth & Income Trust PLC (the "Company") is a UK investment trust listed on the London Stock Exchange and is a member of the Association of Investment Companies. As this Company may implement a gearing policy investors should be aware that the share price movement may be more volatile than movements in the price of underlying investments. Past performance is not a guide to future performance. The value of investments and the income from them may fall as well as rise and is not guaranteed. An investor may not get back the original amount invested. There can be no assurance that the Company's investment objective will be achieved and investment results may vary substantially over time. This document is for information purposes only and does not constitute an offer or invitation to purchase shares in the Company and has not been prepared in connection with any such offer or invitation. Investment Trust share prices may not fully reflect underlying net asset values. There may be a difference between the prices at which you may purchase ("the offer price") or sell ("the bid price") a share on the stock market which is known as "bid-offer" or "dealing" spread. This is set by the market makers and varies from share to share. This spread typically averages 1-2% each way on the mid-market price (the price halfway between the bid and offer prices), and can fluctuate and at times be higher than average. Net Asset Value per share is calculated in accordance with the guidelines of the Association of Investment Companies in that income received by the company in the period since the last annual accounts is excluded. Total net assets are stated inclusive of income received. Any opinions on individual stocks are those of the Company's Investment Manager and no reliance should be given on any such views. Any research in this document has been procured and may have been acted upon by Lindsell Train Limited for its own purposes. The results are being made available to you only incidentally.
