Commentary

Votes against management have typically been in the low single-digit range. The main reason for this is that our long-term approach to investment generally leads us to be supportive of company management. Prior to reaching the point of voting against company management, we will try to influence management through our engagement activities. Our intention is to have open and constructive dialogue with management and board members, in order to broaden our knowledge of the company's strategy and operations and to ensure any concerns we might have are assuaged. Given we often build up large, long-term, stakes in the businesses in which we invest we find that management are open to (and very often encourage) engaging with Lindsell Train.

In most cases where we have voted against management it has been on matters relating to remuneration. Lindsell Train pays careful consideration to the compensation policies of the companies in which we invest. In assessing their compensation policies, we focus more on how incentives are structured rather than the actual quantum of compensation. In other words, we can be comfortable with large rewards provided that the incentives are aligned with shareholders' interests and our principles. Where we do not believe that a company's compensation policy is aligned with the long-term best interests of the shareholders, we will write to management to inform them of our intention to vote against such policies.
